

Colour the centre key of your flower a different colour for strengths and weaknesses. Then read the information in each of the petals and decide whether it is an advantage or disadvantage. You can then shade them in the correct colour.

