The one thing I am most passionate about: taking care of others, helping people, and making people smile. Yes – I know that sounds cheesy – but I try really hard to brighten the day of everyone I meet, even if that's just by asking a cashier how they are or holding the door open for someone. I try to always think of that quote by the Dalai Lama: "Be kind whenever possible. It is always possible."

The most influential person in my life has been: My grandfather. He lived until his 90s and was beloved by everyone he met. He gave me my curious nature and taught me to always think of others first. He and my grandmother were married for over 60 years until he died, and he always said she was the most precious and important part of his life. The way he treated her – with respect, kindness and gratitude – has really shaped the way I conduct myself in all my relationships – particularly with women.

My friends describe me as: warm, generous, thoughtful and caring.

The one thing I wish people would notice more about me: I can be forthright and direct when I need to be. Not in a bar-fight kind of way... but I do know how to get what I want.

I am looking for: I love intimacy and getting swept up in a new relationship – that whirlwind when you meet someone and fall for them instantly. I think true romance is about getting to know someone and connecting on a deep level – it's more than just chemistry and attraction.

eharmony Dating Advice

This profile is effective because it gives an insight into this user's personality and makes him sound like someone thoughtful and appealing. He seems unashamed to be a bit of a softie, which is a quality that women tend to respond to – but he makes it clear he's also assertive and not a complete pushover. His answer to the question about the person that has influenced him most is genuine, and showcases his values and the kind of man he has learned to be.

The reason it's unique is because he's managed to come across as a romantic who is guided by certain principles that help him define who he is. Rather than resorting to clichés about candle-lit dinners and long walks on the beach, this guy has spoken clearly and honestly about the person he is in a relationship – and in general. He has shown that he's thoughtful, considerate, and open to getting to know someone in a meaningful way.

A profile like this would attract a woman who's looking for a guy who will take care of her and truly consider her needs.
